

Going home for winter break? Take 5 minutes to set up ConnectCarolina access for your parents!

Did you know that, as a student, you can give another person access to ConnectCarolina to pay your bills, see your class schedule...or both? Here are two really good reasons to set your parents up with ConnectCarolina access:

- Sharing your Onyen and password (yes, even with your parents!) violates security best practices and can make it more difficult to troubleshoot should your account become compromised. Setting up appropriate access accounts for those who need them is a great way to provide the access they need while keeping your account secure.
- What's more, as 2-Step Verification is added to campus resources it will become impossible for others (like your parents) to use your credentials without also having access to your mobile device.

Easy-to-follow instructions for setting up access can be found here:
